

ATS VV16 Mala Zemlya – ATS Conversion 06/10/2008

Stanichka, USSR, 4 February, 1943: On February 4th a combined Soviet operation aiming to encircle German troops in Koban fails almost completely. Only a small party of marines successfully landed in the heart of Novorossiik haven. Major Kunikov soldiers set up a position in a school in Stanichka and prepared to face the expected German counterstrike. A detachment of Grenadier Regiment 186 is sent to reduce the bridgehead but the Soviets efficiently stop their progress. The Germans then encircled the school. The defenders fought very hard buying time for reinforcements to land. The Soviets under commissar Brejnev will hold the bridgehead, christened "Mala zemlya" (the small land), until the end. ASL Scenario designed by Jean Devaux and Philippe Naud
